DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-6, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) or 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kohlpaintner et al., US 4,647,104, optionally in view of Lutz et al., US 4,332,416.

Kohlpaintner et al. has the guide 14 disclosed as slotted per the disclosure of Lutz et al. in column 3, line 2, locking portion 25 on the guide, profiled rail 15 with second locking portion 32, and discloses direct engagement between 25/32 in both initial and raised positions to prevent horizontal movement. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in Kohlpaintner et al. a slot on the guide as taught by Lutz et al. in order to move same.

As to claim 2, see edges 26,27 for a positive fit.

As to claim 3, see figure 1.

As to claim 5, 25 is an extension and 28 comprises a recess in the rail.

As to claim 6, see pivot bearing at 16, allowing pivotal motion by its tapered end portions.

4. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kohlpaintner et al., optionally in view of Lutz et al., as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of Pollard.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in the references above a C-shaped rail as taught by Pollard in order to provide symmetrical support for the roof panel at speed where wind load can be extreme.

5. Claims 10, 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kohlpaintner et al., optionally in view of Lutz et al., in view of Otake et al..

Claim 13 omits applicant's argument regarding direct engagement.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in Kohlpaintner et al., optionally as modified by Lutz et al., a drain gutter 21, bearing part supporting spring 23, and coupling/decoupling at 22/10 as taught by Otake et al. in order to 1) catch water at the rear panel edge in vent position, and 2) to move the gutter rearwardly to fully open the panel. The bearing part and gutter are spaced from the guide in raised position.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 11-12, 19 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 8/24/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Please note that applicant's claims are open ended as to the structure of the profiled rail. The claims state that the profiled rail defines a second locking portion. This portion may be defined by the rail 15/32 as no structural distinction is present in the claims. In this regard, modification of the claims to preclude the use of member 32 in the rejection would not be regarded as a patentable distinction.

Conclusion

8. This is an RCE of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/648,912. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
